Speaker | Coach | Podcaster | Badass

Sarah Khan is a speaker, mentor and business coach for high achieving women and young people. Sarah left a lucrative career to start her own business and is now on a mission to shift the way we see what is possible for ourselves when we learn to rewrite societal and cultural stories we have embraced as our own. She takes her message into schools and workplaces to help rehabilitate unhealthy behaviours and beliefs around communication, leadership, merit, achievement, and possibility – especially for women and girls. Twice-nominated for an RBC Entrepreneur Women Award, she is an unrelenting empowerment advocate.
